PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

Tompkins, Beatty, Letcher, Pope, Chilton, Hardin, Allen, Davis, Marshal, Johnson.

Those in Italics are Jacksonites, the others National Republicans.—The Frankfort Argus, a Jackson paper, thinks that in the remaining three districts, Lyon & Hawes, Jacksonites, and White, National, are elected. Mr. White's opponent was also a National, so that the Jacksonites cannot have more than four representatives elected out of twelve.

For the Gazette.

An interesting little poem has appeared at Cincinnati, called the Emigrant. The publisher is A. Flash, but the Author is no flash, as our friend Judge Hall would say. By the bye Cincinnati may well be proud of her literary talent—Hall, Neville, Hammond, Flint, &c. This young poet is worthy of such associates. They themselves seemed to think so, having furnished him with some interesting notes which accompany, and form not the least attractive part of the publication.—The note by Morgan Neville is like every thing else which has come from the pen of the gifted and accomplished author of Mike Fink and Gabriel Dubaque—when he speaks of the ornaments, taste, hospitalities, and society of the romantic islanders of Bellepre, he speaks of things quorum pars fuit:

Now in thy desolation, like the fate
Of those who came, in innocence of heart,
With thy green Eden to assimilate:
Then Art her coronal to Nature gave
To deck thy brow, queen of the onward wave!
And woman came, the beautiful and good,

The dedication to Charles Hammond is manly—as Col. Wildfire would say—"genuine." We confess it put us in the best humor with the poem before we had read a word of it: and we set off with the poet afloat on the Ohio, with our feelings flowing as smooth as the Belle Riviere itself.

It appears that, before publishing his poem, he read it in public, to an audience of both sexes, in the Cincinnati Lyceum; and that this experiment of an ancient custom took with our Western Athenians.

We gather from the work itself that the author is a young Barrister, and from Baltimore. If he partake at all of the cultivated taste, accomplished manner, and chastened elocution of the young gentlemen of the Baltimore Bar, his poem must have lost nothing from its classic debut. Many of the reflections of the poet are such as spring from circumstances purely local, and from the past and present aspect of the western country; a peculiar interest would therefore attach to the public recital of them in the city of Cincinnati. D.

The annexed extract, from Mr. Hamilton's Men and Manners in America, contains a good deal of truth, and that not very palatable.

"I shall now give an instance of the estimation in which wealth is held in this commercial community. At a party, a few evenings ago, the worthy host was politely assiduous in introducing me to the more prominent individuals who composed it. Unfortunately, he considered it necessary to preface each repitition of the ceremony with some preliminary account of the pecuniary circumstances of the gentleman, the honor of whose acquaintance was about to be conferred on me. "Do you observe," he asked, "that tall thin person, with a cast in his eye, and his nose a little cocked? Well, that man, not three months ago, made a hundred thousand dollars by a single speculation in tallow. You must allow me to introduce you to him."

The introduction passed, and my zealous cicerone again approached, with increased importance of aspect—"A gentleman," he said, "worth at least half a million, had expressed a desire to make my acquaintance." This was gratifying, and, of course, not to be denied. A third time did our worthy entertainer return to the charge, and before taking my departure, I had the honor of being introduced to an individual, who was stated to be still more opulent than his predecessors. Had I been presented to so many bags of dollars, instead of to their possessors, the ceremony would have been quite as interesting, and perhaps less troublesome.

The truth is, that in a population wholly devoted to money getting, the respect paid to wealth is so pervadingly diffused, that it rarely occurred to any one, that it was impossible I should feel the slightest interest in the private circumstances of the gentlemen with whom I might chance to form a transient acquaintance. It is far from my intention, however, to assert that many of the traveled and more intelligent order of Americans could be guilty of such sottises as that to which I have alluded. But it is unquestionably true, that the tone of conversation, even in the best circles, is materially lowered by the degree in which it is engrossed by money and its various interests. Since my arrival, I have received much involuntary instruction in the prices of corn, cotton, and tobacco. I am already well informed as to the reputed pecuniary resources of every gentleman of my acquaintance, and the annual amount of his disbursements. My stock of information as to bankruptcies and dividends is very respectable; and if the manufacturers of Glasgow and Paisley knew only half as well as I do, how thoroughly the New York market is glutted with their goods, they assuredly would send out no more on speculation."

PHILADELPHIA AND COLUMBIA RAIL ROAD.

This rail road, as originally designed, extends from Philadelphia to the town of Columbia, on the Susquehanna river, and terminates at a point about thirteen miles below York Haven, of which we have been accustomed to hear so much in connection with our Susquehanna Rail Road. The distance between these two places, by the rail road is 81 3-4 miles. Following the line of the road from the intersection of Vine and Broad streets in Philadelphia for rather more than 2 1-2 miles, you arrive at the foot of the Schuylkill inclined plane, which is about 50 feet above mean tide, on which level the road runs to this point. This plane is about 2700 feet in length, and its elevation from base to summit is about 180 feet. There is, at the western extremity of the road, another inclined plane, at Columbia. This is near 2000 feet in length, and has an elevation from foot to head, of 90 feet. Stationary steam power will of course be resorted to, to overcome these acclivities. The distance from the head of the plane at Philadelphia, to the head of that at Columbia, exceeds 77 miles, and in the whole line of this distance, the elevation will not exceed 30 feet to the mile, a degree of ascent overcome with the utmost facility by the aid of horse power alone, and for the purposes of rail road transportation almost equivalent to a level. The average ascent, however, does not much exceed 25 feet to the mile.

The road is entirely graded, the cuttings and embankments generally slight. The highest point on the line is at 'the Gap,' about 30 miles from Columbia. This cut is about 32 feet deep. The bed of the road here is 560 feet above mean tide, 300 feet above the head of the plane at Schuylkill, and 200 above that of Columbia.

This road has been located with a peculiar view to its adaptation to steam power for the purposes of transportation, and the shortest radius of curvature occurring any where on the line is about 630 feet, being 6 degrees of curvature in a chord of 66 feet, and this most desirable end has been attained, with but slight cuttings and fillings.

The country through which the road winds its way, is unsurpassed in interest and beauty. The whole line of the rail road, and the Lancaster turnpike pursuing the same course, and alternately crossing each other, is for many miles richly studded with magnificent and imposing mansions, delightful villas, substantial farm houses, and capacious barns and granaries, and for twenty miles present to the enraptured gaze the appearance of one extensive and continuous village, the abode of health, industry, and content, the home of the happy, the virtuous, and the frugal. But few towns of any consequence are passed in its rout. Many streams, creeks, and rivulets are traversed by it, but you meet with no such splendid specimens of masonry, as on the Baltimore road. Their passage is generally effected by means of wooden structures, of the most substantial description, designed tastefully, placed judiciously in their mechanical execution, remarkable for their neatness, and well calculated for durability and security. The Schuylkill, however, is crossed by a splendid viaduct, of stone, 980 feet long.

The most remarkable structures of timber are over the great and little Conestoga, near Lancaster. The one is 1,100 feet in length, and 34 in breadth, resting on ten piers—the other is about 1,000 feet long. They are entirely completed. The road passes directly through the city of Lancaster, and from thence to its point of destination, Columbia, on the Susquehanna. Columbia is a thriving and flourishing town, with about 2,500 inhabitants.

The original estimated cost of this work was $2,297,120, being about $28,173 per mile. From some departure, however, from the designed method of construction, the amount expended will, upon its completion, much exceed this amount; and it would not be hazarding much to say that the 83 1-4 miles, between Philadelphia and Columbia, will reach $3,000,000.

The whole line, from Philadelphia to Columbia, has been placed in the hands of skilful and energetic contractors, bound, by the terms of their engagements, to complete the first track by the first of December, and the second by the first of July next. The line has been subdivided, and laid out, for contract, in sections, of two miles each, so as to ensure, by a division of labor and responsibility, the completion of the whole within the time specified in the contracts, should no unforeseen delays occur in the delivery of the rails, an abundant supply of which is constantly expected.

From Philadelphia, westward, 22 miles of the road are completed, and in constant use. At about this distance the Pennsylvania Rail Road, as this is frequently called, "par excellence," receives, in the South Valley Hill, two miles west of Paoli, the West Chester Rail Road. This road commences at the flourishing borough of West Chester, containing about 2,000 inhabitants. The distance from that place to its intersection with the Pennsylvania Road is about ten miles. This road is the result of individual enterprize, having been constructed by a company, at an expense of $100,000 dollars; and the public spirited projectors have, as yet, seen no reason to regret this appropriation of their funds, and the entire completion of this great work will give on animating impetus to its transactions. It consists, as yet, of a single track.

Foreign Capital.—Our readers are all familiar with the long list of titled foreigners which had been published to the American people, with the quantity of stock owned by each in the United States' Bank. This was done with the design of injuring the Bank through a most ridiculous prejudice, and by using arguments about the use of foreign capital, which made the financiers of the old world stare in absolute amazement. The rationale of the thing was beyond their comprehension, and why? Simply because the demagogue has no reason about him, but is a compound of imbecility in pointing out what is of true utility, and of impudence in assailing that which is of substantial and self evident value. We learn, from the Harrisburgh Telegraph, that the Duke of Brunswick, Sir Robert Peel, the Duke of Celeste, Philip Louis de Peyronnet, the Countess de Damas, &c., are extensive stockholders in the Pennsylvania canal debt. And the Cincinnati Gazette states, that many of those distinguished foreigners are owners to a large extent, of the stock of the Ohio canal debt, and that a Mr. John Marshall of Leeds, is owner of more than $248,000 worth of the stock. What would we think of the wisdom of our sister States, if they were to make a fuss about this foreign capital, and insist upon repealing the charters of the Canal companies? We surely would think that the moon had got much nearer the earth there than elsewhere.—Commonwealth.

United States' Bank.—The Commercial Herald of Philadelphia—a paper conducted by a gentleman of distinguished ability—expresses its views of our prediction of the non-removal of the public deposits, and of the re-chartering of the Bank of the U. States, in the following terms.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

"We have no doubt that both the concluding positions of this extract will be realized. The deposits will not be removed whilst Mr. Duane is Secretary of the Treasury; and, as we confidently believe, the Charter of the bank will be renewed.—We say the first on no slight authority; and we predicate the last on the increasing light among the people which is every day satisfying them of the indispensable necessity of such a Bank as the U. S. Bank, not to the Government only, but to the State Banks, and to the whole country. Congress will, as we sincerely believe, renew the charter by a constitutional majority. For ourselves, we can conceive of no heavier calamity that would befal the country, than the downfall of the Bank of the U. States. Those who tamper with an institution of such acknowledged general utility, and seek its overthrow, may be likened to him who would fire his dwelling for the purpose of warming his fingers at the flame. He would soon feel the need of a shelter, and a place of comfort for his whole body. It must be confessed we live in reckless times! What our Fathers deemed to be good, we pronounce bad; what they tried, and prospered under, and bequeathed to us as rich legacies, we have grown tired of, and seek to cast aside as worthless!

Remarkable Occurrence.—On Friday last, while the workmen were employed in leveling the Rail Road, in Newark, over a piece of low, spongy ground, a short distance south of Market street, between Mulberry street and the river, they discovered a break or crack in the road which they had previously leveled. Shortly after, an opening presented itself and the earth began to cave and sink out of sight. Several loads of dirt were thrown in—this also disappeared along with the ground, which continued to cave in on every side, until the opening extended about sixty feet, east and west, and one hundred and fifty, north and south. As the earth disappeared, a body of water presented itself and rose towards the surface. Several thousand loads of dirt have been thrown in, a great portion of which has sunk away, nobody knows where.

The hole is now partly filled up, on the north side, but a considerable space still remains open where it first appeared. The depth or extent of this cavern has not yet been ascertained. Whilst the work of filling up was in progress, it was discovered that the level ground, on the east side, covered with stumps and roots of trees, about 60 feet by 100, was rising up and forming a hill: it has now risen several feet in the centre, near the hole, and slopes off gradually in other directions. Large cracks are to be seen in different parts of this raised ground.

These are the facts: but whether it be a bottomless subterraneous pond of water, or a bed of quicksand, or some other mysterious agent, which sucks in and devours such vast quantities of earth, we must leave to the decision of the more learned advocates of Mr. Symmes' theory.—Newark Eagle.

Knapp's Cork Mattress.—We have seen a certificate of three gentlemen, who witnessed the experiment made with Knapp's Cork Mattress on Saturday last. The certificate states that the experiment was entirely satisfactory. The mattress weighed twenty six pounds, and sustained a man from Fort Independence to Long Wharf. Though the sea was considerably agitated, the person on the mattress sailed faster than the boat which accompanied him, and without wetting his head.

An experiment was made with the same mattress at the swimming school, on Charles river, a day or two since, and was equally satisfactory.—Our informant states that three persons lay upon it, and as many others as could conveniently surround it, endeavored to press it into the water, without succeeding.

If these things are so, (and we have no reason to doubt the accuracy of our information) the value of the grated cork mattress will be inestimable.—Boston Courier.

We learn, from the Providence Journal and the City Gazette, that, during the last year, immediately after the publication of the Travels of John and Richard Lander, a number of gentlemen of that city associated for the purpose of sending a vessel to ascend the Niger. Mr. Joseph B. Anthony was, for this purpose, appointed to the command of the brig Agenoria, and sailed from Providence in December last. On the 24th of March, as he was ascending Brass river, in the Quorra country, he was accidentally killed by the bursting of a gun. His loss is much regretted. We do not perceive that the Providence papers contain any further detail respecting the expedition, which may be regarded as a striking illustration of the enterprizing character of New England merchants.—*Nat. EAST INDIA AFFAIRS.

A late Bombay paper contains the following, being a portion only of a very gloomy article, relating to the affairs of India:—

"The free trade, if it has not drained the country of its capital, has choked up the springs from which it flowed. For two thousand years, the balance of trade was in favor of India; it exported its manufactures—its raw materials—its ivory, sandal, and gems to every country, and imported little from any. The wealth of the world flowed in, and none returned to diminish the accumulating horde. Now every thing is changed! That the free trade, while unaccompanied by the counterbalancing measure of free colonization, has tended greatly to check the national prosperity of the country, will be evident to any one who has had any opportunity of comparing the former prosperity of Surat, and the manufacturing towns in the South, with their present decay. The cottons, and other cloths, which brought an immense annual income to those places, are now brought out from machinery at a quarter of the manual expense, and poured into the country till the market has been glutted, and hundreds of thousands of the native manufacturers reduced to beggary. The machinery of India stock has not tended to diminish this evil. But things are coming to a close.—The rulers of India have been called on for an account of their stewardship; and now, at the eleventh hour, they are making a struggle to adjust their affairs. They find that the India debt and territorial expenditure have increased, are increasing, and ought to be diminished; and that, unhappily at the same time, the wealth of the country and their own territorial and commercial income have diminished, are diminishing, and ought to be increased. Turn to which ever side of the account they may, the Company is burked; and its last effort is to sweep its house, and die decently.

The treacherous successes of the opium and indigo speculations, which flushed in our markets for a time with a feverish glory of prosperity, have already turned to ruin, and the failure of the three greatest houses in India may be considered as a prelude to the total breaking up of a hollow and bloated system of commerce, which has swallowed the savings of thousands, and consigned them, in the decline of life, to ruin, or perpetual exile and dependence.

A crime has been lately discovered, near Chantilly, which reminds us of the feudal ages. An inheritance having fallen to one of the noble families of that neighborhood, and one of the sons, whose presence was required, not making his appearance, the father was asked what had become of his son. As he did not give a satisfactory account of his son's absence, suspicions arose, and, after some search, the young man was found in a subterranean prison, where he had been shut up for seven years, with an iron collar round his neck, by which he was fastened to a post. It appears that this young man wished to marry a person beneath his rank, which the parents prevented by this horrible means. No further particulars are as yet known on the subject.

Counterfeits and Counterfeiting.—Within a short time past, many counterfeit notes of the Branches of U. S. Bank have been put into circulation in this city. Mr. Brown, of the Theatre, has suffered to the amount of about fifty dollars in this way. The notes received by him were tens and fives, letter E., payable at Nashville, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Savannah, &c. But two plates are used for the notes of the denomination of five dollars.—They are printed upon thin, bad paper, and a little examination would lead to detection. In the case named, the notes were presented at the door of the theatre, and cashed. On Friday night, another note of this description was offered to the doorkeeper, who detained the individual until Mr. Brown could be sent for, to arrest him. He was placed in the hands of the constable; but, after undergoing a search, was set at liberty, no other counterfeits having been found upon him.

Circumstances strengthen the belief that there is an organized band of counterfeiters in this city, and the residence of some of them is even located at one of the principal hotels, although the mint is believed to be in some other part of the town.—St. Louis Repub. Aug. 13.

From Cape de Verds.—Capt. Mariner, of the brig Zipporah, from Cape de Verds, states that there have, in all, seven cargoes of provisions arrived at these islands, from the United States, and one cargo of corn from Africa. He also states that Mr. Martin, a merchant of Bonavista, informed him that about 18,000 had died by starvation in the whole islands, and not 40,000, as has been stated; and that, if the rain should fall, as usual, this month, (Aug.) they would do very well, otherwise they would need assistance of the United States again, to whom they are very grateful for their goodness heretofore towards them.—N. Y. Gazette.

A man in a passion is terrible to his enemies; but a woman in a passion is disgusting to her friends—she loses all the respect due to her sex, and she has not masculine strength and courage to enforce any other kind of respect. These circumstances should be considered by those who advise that no difference should be made in the education of the two sexes.

It is said that there is a ship now loading at Boston with materials for building, destined for Cape Town, Cape of Good Hope.

Singular Intermarriage.—A Mr. Harwood had two daughters by his first wife, the eldest of whom was married to John Coshick, this Coshick had a daughter by his first wife, whom old Harwood married, and by her had a son, therefore, John Coshick's second wife could say as follows:—My father is my son, and I'm my mother's mother: My sister is my daughter, and I'm grandmother to my brother.

LOSS BY FORGERIES.—It is averred by the Bank of England, in an account delivered to the Committee of Parliament, that its average annual loss by forgeries in the public funds (and not of bank notes) is forty thousand pounds, or one hundred and seventy seven thousand, seven hundred and seventy seven dollars! The Bank is the agent of Government, for paying the interest on the public funds, and assumes the risk of forged certificates, transfers, receipts, &c.

The new sixpences, lately coined in London, have the word "sixpence" impressed on them, to prevent their being passed, when guilt, as half sovereigns—a fraud which had been committed to a great extent by passing gilt sixpences of a former coinage. A great quantity of base silver coin is put into circulation at the low gambling houses, which swarm, and are daily increasing, at the west end of the town, particularly in the parish of St. James.

If the following be a true story, it is literally having "the itch for business:"

YANKEE SPECULATION.—A pedlar, from Connecticut, lately traveled through Virginia, shaking hands heartily with every one he met, whether they purchased or refused his merchandise. Directly it was discovered that, to every one with whom he had shaken the friendly hand, he had communicated the itch. Immediately after this discovery, another pedlar, his partner, came along with a good stock of sovereign itch ointment. It is perhaps needless to say that he made large sales at a good per centage.—Hart. Review.

We learn with pleasure that a gold medal has been awarded to Mr. William Hale, by the Academy of Sciences, (Institute,) for his improvement in steam navigation, by which the use of paddle wheels is superseded.—Paris paper.

A few days ago, the following most singularly fatal accident happened to a servant in the neighborhood of the Rue Popincourt. Having made a trap for, and caught a cat that had made frequent depredations upon the pantry of his master, the man tied a cord round the neck of the animal, and fastening a heavy stone at the other end, went out with the resolution of drowning the marauder in the canal of St. Martin. The poor man, however, did not return during the whole of the next day, and, on inquiries being made, it was found that his dead body had been picked up out of the canal. It would seem that, on attempting to throw the cat into the water, the animal struggled, and the man, making a false step, fell in himself. The cat afterwards contrived to escape from the stone, and returned to the house with the cord round its neck.—Paris paper.

Important Discovery in Science.—We understand that Mr. Saxton, who first produced the electric spark from a magnet, and thus proved the great affinity, if not identity, of electricity and magnetism, has just had his labors crowned with another brilliant discovery—the decomposition of water by magnetism.

Boston Primary School.—By a recent return, there appears to be 64 schools, containing 3,845 children under the age of 8 years. By the return made to the Legislature, and bearing date November, 1829, there were 57 schools, containing 3,573 scholars. Increase in three and a half years, 7 schools, 332 pupils. These schools are exclusive of over 100 private schools in the city, for children of same ages.—Balt. Amer.

Education in Maine.—A writer in the Saco Republican furnishes some details respecting the public provision for education in the State of Maine. After its separation from Massachusetts, a law was passed, requiring every town to raise annually for the support of schools, a sum equal to forty cents for each person in such town, to be distributed among the school districts in proportion to the number of inhabitants in each. In 1825, the number of districts, as appears from the reports made to the legislature, was 2499; the number of children, between the ages of 4 and 21, 137,931; the number who usually attend schools, 101,325, and the total annual expenditure, $137,878 57. The present number of scholars is estimated by this writer, at 140,000. The schools kept by male teachers, are open, on the average, two months in the year, and those kept by female teachers, two weeks longer. The writer suggests, that if the sum of $1 06, instead of forty cents, for every inhabitant, were required to be raised, that the schools might be kept open during the year, and believes that the additional tax would not be regarded as a burden.

A Chain Saw has been invented by Mr. P. P. Quimby, of Belfast, Me. The teeth are rivetted together, and the saw is placed round a cylinder in a groove.

No "proper place" for it.—A law of Virginia allows the retailing of spirituous liquors at "proper places," in the different counties. In one of the counties, the magistrates have decided that there is no "proper place" within their jurisdiction for such a purpose.

Captain Back.—The Montreal Herald, of the 14th inst., contains the following letter:

"On Monday, the 12th August instant, two canoes, manned by voyageurs of the Hudson Bay Company, arrived at Lachine, from the interior.—By these, letters have been received from Captain Back, dated 19th June, from Jack River, a small depot and trading post of the Company, at the N. W. extremity of Lake Oninipique; in which Captain Back reports himself and party in excellent health.

"He also expresses himself much satisfied with the arrangements made, and the zeal manifested in the interior, to facilitate the object of the expedition. The following is verbatim:—'As the season is far advanced, I purpose proceeding immediately in a light canoe, to find out the Thleu-ci-cho, and also to select a wintering station, which may be effected before, or by the time my heavy barges reach the Athabasca, and by this means they will be enabled to come on direct to the end of their journey."

A friend of ours states, as a matter of curiosity, that he saw a White Man smoking a segar on one of the public walks of Washington Square yesterday afternoon. Our black population, generally, are too well bred to be guilty of so vile a breach of common decency.

The Rev. James H. Otey, of Franklin, has been elected the first Protestant Episcopal bishop of Tennessee.—St. Louis Repub.

THE DYING ROSE.

Mother, why did my pretty rosebush fade?
I'm sure I watched it well; and ev'ry night
I poured soft water o'er its shrivell'd leaves;
Still ev'ry day it droop'd—its buds fell off,
Its leaves fell too—and now there's naught
But this dry stalk remaining: Say, mother, if
I water it, and move it in a sunnier spot,
Will it revive again?
Mother.
Oh no, my child! I, too, have watch'd its growth
For many summers, and full well I knew
That this would be its last; for it has liv'd
While others faded—it is dying now,
And all your future care will ne'er restore it.
Did you not know, my child, that all the buds
And flowers of earth will also fade and leave us?
They'll live a while, then die, just like this rose.
Child.
But, Mother, is there no plant, no flower
That will repay me for my constant care?
None, with wide spreading leaves and pretty blooms
That will not fade and leave me thus alone?
Oh, tell me, Mother, do such never grow?
Mother.
Not earthly plants, my child! but you have one
Which will reward your toil and anxious care
Far better than the fading flowers of earth;
But you must cultivate and watch its growth,
And keep it free from every noxious weed;
Then will it ev'ry day put forth fresh beauty—
No rude blast can ever scar its freshness—
Nor hoar frost nip it. Would you know it more?
Its root is not of earth—it cannot die
As did the Rose—for its bright home is heaven.
Child.
And what's its name? Pray tell me, if you will.
Mother.
'Tis the pure soul, my darling child—
That precious gift your heav'nly Father gave;
And if you keep it pure, and ask His aid
To culture it aright,—he'll give it you;
And when you leave this world, 'twill fully bloom

Alleghany Female Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. ALDEN, having found the climate of Cincinnati unfriendly to the health of their family, deemed it expedient to leave that beautiful and flourishing city, in which they had commenced a Young Ladies' Boarding and Day School under encouraging auspices, and are become residents in the borough of Alleghany, in the vicinity of Pittsburgh.

They have taken the house, pleasantly situated on the second bank in this borough, recently occupied by the Rev. Mr. Halsey, where they contemplate opening a Young Ladies' Boarding and Day School, on the last Monday of the present month of August. On the suggestion of friends, they will also admit a class of little boys under eight years of age.

Boarding and tuition in any or all the branches to be taught by Mr. and Mrs. Alden, will be thirty dollars, a quarter, to be paid, quarterly, in advance. Each Young Lady will provide her bed and bedding, towels and napkins, or these will be provided, at two dollars, a quarter.

All day scholars will be charged, for instruction in reading with its appendages of spelling, definition, derivation, and composition of words, writing, and arithmetick, $5.

—in English grammar, geography with the aid of globes, chronology, and the Latin and Greek languages, $6.

—in letter writing and other composition, rhetorick, history, logick, moral philosophy, and evidences of Christianity, $7.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden will teach French, and the former Spanish, at $5 a quarter.

Instrumental musick and painting will be taught, at this Institute, by distinguished instructers, at their customary charge, and instruments, for the use of learners, will be provided at a reasonable quarterly rate.

For every twenty pupils, a competent additional teacher will be employed.

As four weeks, a year, will be spent in vacations, twelve weeks of term time will constitute a quarter, including customary holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden having had under their tuition, in different places, hundreds of Young Ladies, from most of the states in the American Union, as well as some from foreign climes, refer to them and to their parents and guardians as their epistle. Other credentials, of ample import, are on hand, to which their patrons may have access whenever desired.

Finally, the undertakers of the Alleghany Female Institute respectfully suggest, that it will be their constant aim to exercise a superintendence, care, watchfulness, and guidance, analogous to what is the duty of parents, over the manners, conduct, morals, and studies of the Young Ladies, who may be committed to them, as inmates in their family, mingled with mildness, tenderness, and firmness—and to exert themselves to lead all their pupils from one grade of useful knowledge to another, as their respective ages and capacities may admit—and, in short, to afford them every facility for acquiring such a polite, substantial, and finished education, as the present interesting period demands.

TO PRINTERS, &c.

ADAM RAMAGE respectfully informs his friends and the public, that the continues to make Printing, Copper Plate, Copying, Seal, Lithographic, and other Presses.

Among the variety of Printing Presses in use, it is found necessary, where printing is so universal, to have one of a simple, cheap, and durable description; at the present reduced price of Printing Materials, a small office can now be furnished at a little more than the cost of one expensive and complicated Press.

His present Patent Printing Press is compact, with two perfect Iron Surfaces, instead of wood and stone, as formerly—requires no staying, and can be repaired by any common mechanic.

It is particularly adapted for the country, or for South America, where it is now generally known as the only press that can be transported into the interior of the country with safety and facility.—These Presses are of all sizes, from Imperial to Job and Card Presses, and at corresponding prices.

From his connection with all the Type Foundries of the U. States, he is enabled to furnish a complete Printing Office on the same terms as at the respective foundries.

He embraces this opportunity of offering his grateful acknowledgments for the liberal encouragement he has for a long series of years experienced from the trade, by which he has been enabled to manufacture a greater number of Printing Presses than any other individual in the United States; and will only add, that he is not now solicitous to do a greater business than he can manage with convenience, and continue to give satisfaction to those who may favor him with their commands.

All articles in the Printing line as usual, and on as reasonable terms as at other establishments.

PROSPECT HILL
Literary & Scientific Institution.
PITTSBURGH, Pa.

ON the 1st of July, Mr. DANIEL STONE intends opening, near the City of Pittsburgh, an Institution for the instruction of boys. Its plan is to combine, as far as possible, the peculiar advantages of a domestic and public education.—The pupils, with the principal and assistants, will constitute one family, and be at all times under careful supervision. The Discipline will be mild, but strict, such as a father, solicitous for the welfare of his children, would exercise over them. It is believed that an appeal to reason, and the sense of honor and duty, will generally secure obedience. Coercive measures will, therefore, be adopted only in extreme cases.

The Course of Study will embrace the English, Latin, Greek, and French Languages; Arithmetic, Algebra, and Geometry; Geography and History—Ancient and Modern; Rhetoric, Composition, and Elocution; Natural Philosophy and Chemistry; Penmanship, Orthography, and Reading. Frequent examinations will be held, open to the friends and relations of the youths.

The Mode of Instruction will be thorough and critical, and no subject will be relinquished until fully understood. That the scholar's mind may become vigorous, active, and self-confident—prepared for the stern conflicts of life, and a fearless discharge of its duties, he will be encouraged to reason and decide for himself.

Each student will be required to attend such church as his parent or guardian shall designate.

To preserve health and elasticity of spirits, to check indolence, and promote industry among the students, they will be daily exercised in athletic sports.

Pupils will be admitted between the ages of Six and Sixteen. None can be received for less than one term.

The uniform Dress will consist of a cap, blue roundabout, with metal buttons, and blue pantaloons. Every article of clothing should be marked with the owner's name in full.

The Terms are two hundred dollars a year, payable quarterly in advance. This includes Tuition, Board, Lodging, Washing, Mending, Light, and Fuel.

The Vacations, after the present year, will be three—the 1st, of two weeks, from the 3d Wednesday in April; the 2d, of four weeks, from the 2d Wednesday in August; and one week at Christmas.

The Matron's department will be under the care of Mrs. Reynolds, of this city.

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞ A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving t emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in all cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

VALUABLE PROPERTY

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.

Orders from all parts in the Union will be promptly and most carefully attended to, and particularly in supplying sorts for all founts furnished by their predecessors, Binny & Ronaldson, and Richard Ronaldson.
